

Local Grown Frio County 4-H Steer Project

This is the first year for Frio County to offer this project. The premise is to allow 4-H members an opportunity to help raise, train and show a local grown steer that is provided by a local producer. Those participating will also have to turn in a record book and do an interview before the end of the project. The steers will be returned to the producer at the conclusion of the project. This year the Producer who provided the four Wagyu steers for the project was Texas Tailor Farms, the Bennett family.

Each participant is required to solicit funds that will be divided based on overall scores and funds will be given in the form of scholarships. Overall scores will be based on record book, interview, and show.

More Information about the project can be found on the frioagrilife.org website or by calling the Frio County Extension Office at (830)505-7474,
